WILLISTON HANDS SEVERE TRIMMING TO FROSH ELEVEN

Henry's Injury In Second Quarter Weakens The Panther Cubs

MANY PENALTIES ON BOTH SIDES

Frosh Stage Thrilling Come-Back To Score At Last Minute

Playing an agressive game, the strong Williston team forced a 32-13 defeat upon the Panther Cubs at Williston Saturday. Coach Riegelman's team played a fighting game throughout, but were greatly handicapped by the loss of Henry, who was injured in the second quarter.

Although Henry played only about one half of the game before his injury, his work was particularly outstanding, as he seemed able to drive through the line repeatedly for good gains. Willis also starred. Gruggel, who was substituted for Henry, played an excellent game. Both of the teams were heavily penalized during the entire game.

One of the most exciting parts of the game was during the last minute of play, when Middlebury, by the use of two forward passes, scored. The field was in good condition, so that many forward passes were attempted, but Williston's skill in intercepting them

HENRY'S CONDITION CAUSES OPTIMISM

Freshman President, Injured in Williston Game, In Critical Condition in Northampton Hospital

Elbert Henry '29, who was injured in the freshman football game against Williston on Saturday and who since then has been lying in a critical condition in the Cooley-Dickinson Hospital at Northampton, Mass., is gradually improving according to word received here last night. X-ray pictures taken Monday showed that although two or three of the vertebrae in the region of the neck seemed to be broken, the spinal cord is intact. On the basis of this fact the doctors are confident that he will be able to recover, although it will no doubt take some little time. The partial paralysis of the lower part of his body seemed to be decreasing yesterday, and he had some control over his feet. Henry is reported to be resting quite comfortably, having practically no pain. It is necessary, however, for him to remain perfectly still and he probably will be unable to leave his bed for several weeks.

"Al", who is president of the freshman class and who has been doing wonderful work as halfback on the yearling eleven all fall in spite of his light weight, was injured in the second quarter of the game at Williston Saturday. He was carrying the ball, and in an effort to elude a tackler he dodged quickly but was caught and thrown heavily, causing the injury.

Coach Riegelman remained with him until Tuesday and his mother has been with him since Sunday. The freshman class at a special meeting yesterday afternoon voted to send flowers to their president.

Blue Will Have Hard Fight To Retain Gridiron Laurels

Klevenow's Team Out to Score Victory Over Old Rivals

VERMONT FIRST, THEN NORWICH

Blue Gaining Momentum as Season Progresses; Hopes To Finish Strong

"If we have our full strength to use against Vermont on Saturday and if we get just a fair share of the breaks of the game then Middlebury will come out victorious in the first game of the State Championship series. It is going to be a game in which both teams are evenly matched and a game in which the breaks are going to be the deciding factor. If we get an even break the team will do the rest," declared Coach Klevenow this noon just before the CAMPUS went to press.

Although Middlebury won over Tufts on Saturday Coach Klevenow does not feel that this is any indication that Middlebury can beat Vermont on Saturday even though comparative scores of Norwich, Vermont and Middlebury would favor the Blue and White. In addition several of the Middlebury team suffered minor injuries on Saturday that may slow up the game somewhat at Burlington.

Coach Klevenow is putting the team through the longest and hardest scrimmages of the season this week and several new formations are being worked out that it is expected will go a long way towards keeping the State Championship on Saturday. The second team have been using Vermont formations and the varsity has been able to break these up and consistently score against them, which is a favorable prospect on Saturday.

Vermont Awaits Chance To Avenge Last Year's Defeat

GREEN AND GOLD IS LIGHT BUT SCRAPPY

Injuries Make Opponents Weaker Than Against Norwich

By PHILIP B. DANIELS
Sport Editor, Vermont Cynic

Encouraged by her 3 to 0 victory over Norwich in the first of the State Championship contests, Vermont now awaits the arrival of November 14 to avenge last year's defeat at the hands of Middlebury and bring the laurels back to the Green and Gold. But there is no doubt that it will be a battle royal, like the game at Northfield, with stiff competition for honors all the way to the final blast of the whistle. There can be little comparison of the two teams, since there has been no common opponent thus far on their schedules, yet from comparative scores, Vermont seems to have a slight advantage.

Coach McAvoy has done remarkably well with the material of which the squad is comprised. A one-year rule put into effect for the first time this fall barred all freshmen from taking part in varsity athletics, and kept out some valuable players. The squad are practically all veterans of considerable gridiron experience, but are woefully light to face the powerful combinations on a schedule out of their class. The average weight in the line is but 169, and that of the backfield 157. They are also severely handicapped by the loss of Captain-elect "Joe" Tarpey, out with an injured knee since the opener with Clarkson. His able generalship is

BLUE SHOWS FAST ATTACK; TROUNCES TUFTS DECISIVELY

Upsets Jumbo Eleven 19-0, Using Passes To Advantage

TEAMWORK IS FAR SUPERIOR

Dope Upset as Middlebury Wins By Same Margin As Last Year

The combination of a strong aerial attack and an unstoppable backfield proved distastrous to Tufts on Saturday and Middlebury won 19-0 on Tufts Oval, scoring her second decisive victory over the Brown and Blue in as many years.

Coach Klevenow's team entered the contest with the odds against it, for sporting writers and the various Boston papers had picked Tufts to win and at best it appeared that Middlebury would have only an even break. That was before the game. Once the two teams got started there was but little question which team had the odds against it for Middlebury clearly outplayed her opponents in every quarter and department of the game.

Tufts fought gamely to keep the Middlebury score down but was unable to break up the aerial attack that netted two tuchdowns or to halt the speed and power ofthe Middlebury backs who were by far the best that had faced Tufts in any game this season. Several fumbles were made by Capt. Potter's men but they were always recovered and in a few seconds their drive towards the Tufts goal was again under way.

Middlebury displayed excellent teamwork throughout the game and Coach Klevenow had an opportunity to use a large number of his reserves in seasoning them for the two state championship games. Schroeder was the outstanding star for Tufts and he alone was able to make any impression on the Blue and White defense or to in any way slow up the Middlebury offense. Tufts previously successful forward passing attack proved utterly futile against the Blue and White with the exception of three passes that were completed in the second half by Watson and Lehan.

During the first quarter the ball seesawed back and forth between the two teams in Tufts territory, with Tufts frequently punting out of danger to

Prof. H. M. Fife Speaks At Armistice Exercises

In commemoration of the fallen heroes of the Great War, special Armistice Day exercises were held in chapel this morning. The service began at 10:55 instead of the usual hour of ten o'clock. After the two minute period of silence at eleven, Professor Harry M. Fife gave a brief talk. Professor Fife saw service during the Great War with the Canadian Tank Corps. Last year, Professor Rene Hardre, who had been an officer in the French Army, was the speaker.

Charles Baker Wright, professor emeritus of English, was the leader of the chapel exercises.

THAT OLD SPIRIT

MIDD GET VERMONT! The old battle cry, familiar to the ears of Middlebury students for many generations, is again reverberating from the old Green Mountains as the wearers of the Blue prepare for their biggest game of the season. On Saturday it will reach its greatest intensity for it is then that the Blue and White clashes with the Green and Gold in a renewal of the annual gridiron rivalry.

For years this game has always been looked forward to by the teams and student bodies of the two institutions as the objective contest of the season, the game in which victory tastes sweeter than in any other. It has always raised college spirit to the highest pitch of the year. In the old days this spirit sometimes found expression in a very forcible manner. Although the meetings are somewhat more sportsman like and friendly in recent years the feeling of true rivalry is just as strong as it ever was.

The history of these famous struggles shows that whatever the physical inequalities of the teams may have been, the battle has been a fight to the finish. A team may be beaten but its spirit is invincible. When on Saturday the sons of old Middlebury face their brothers by the lake, the mighty traditions of a time honored past will be theirs. May the thoughts of this worthy heritage give them power and strength. Shades of Gamaliel Painter, arise!

PLAYING THE GAME

The speaker at vesper service Sunday congratulated us on the opportunity we have to spend four years here amid such beauty of surroundings. Our chapel and its striking location always impress those who are here for the first time, and they are a continual source of inspiration to us. When me look around the campus and proudly point out its beauties to our friends, how many of us visualize it all in terms of the years and work which it has taken to bring the college to its present point of perfection? Because we have had no part in building the college, we accept without question and as our inherent right everything offered here for our development and pleasure. We seldom consider the spirit that has made it possible for us to do and enjoy the things we do at Middlebury.

Often we lose sight of the long, hard process which has preceeded our college of today and we fail to do our share in continually keeping up and adding to its good name and standard of quality. This can hardly be called a square game. We owe it to those who have labored that we might have the best, to do everything in our power that the college may not suffer a relapse but continue to grow in worth and esteem.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Generally speaking, campus activities are rather highly organized. There is a division of labor and certain duties, both major and minor, are assigned to certain individuals. These individuals are held responsible, from the highest down to the most humble, for their part of the work, and make their reports to a higher officer.

Theoretically this system is to be recommended highly and organizations run smoothly on wheels well oiled with cooperation and personal responsibility. In practice, however, this may not, and to speak frankly, does not always occur. It is very easy when one is placed in a position of responsibility, especially we think, in those of minor importance and pertaining to details, to procrastinate to the point that someone else, in addition to his own duties, must take over ours at the last minute. Sometimes too, through lack of system or proper forethought, we have been known to forget entirely certain duties.

Incidents such as these are not exceptional. Many hard places in the administration of Student Government would be facilitated, many even avoided if each girl who signs the constitution would assume the responsibility of living up to it, with less reliance on the officers for its enforcement. College publications sometimes reach the critical point where sub-editors are lying back on their laurels, on election to the board, and letting all their responsibility slide onto the shoulders of the editor-in-chief. This sort of thing happens more or less in all college organizations and greatly retards the effectiveness of the work of the whole.

Units of action can only function in truest form when every part of the unit is performing its individual function, and they all blend together in a perfect whole. It is unjust to expect one person to carry the whole load and the sooner each member of a unit ascertains his exact duties and responsibilities and then sets out consciously to carry them out the sooner the problems of organizations will smooth themselves out and there will be less tax on a few individuals. Student World Court Drive at Middlebury

The student World Court drive at Middlebury is, at present, in charge of a temporary committee which announces that a man is expected to speak here on the World Court question some time this month.

The plan of the drive is to arouse interest in the proposed entrance of the United States into the World Court. It is admitted that there are many good arguments on each side of the question but it is essential that every student become well acquainted with both sides of the controversy so that he will be able to vote intelligently in the student poll which will be taken in Middlebury early in December.

"Show Your Colors, Wear a Feather"—Delta Taus

Large blue feathers with white M's will be sold by the Delta Taus on the special train to Burlington and at the game Saturday. Eyervone should purchase one and wear it in order to identify himself as a Middlebury supporter. The honorary sophomore society is also planning to publish a special program for the Norwich game, containing various features of interest.

Uncle James---Raymond Saulnier '29

"The Boy Comes Home", by A. A. Milne, the author of "Mr. Pim Passes By", was presented before "The Wig and Pen" on Thursday night, November 5, by Harry Graves '27. The play concerns a young man who has recently returned from the war. The dialogue is interesting and the characterization exceptionally good. The freshmen, for whom this was the first opportunity of showing dramatic ability, gave most encouraging promise for future productions. There were no lapses of memory, no lack of enthusiasm, no discrepancies anywhere. Misses Alden and Fitzgerald took their minor roles very acceptably and Miss Moore with a rather more difficult part did very well indeed. Messrs. Bosworth and Saulnier made the foreground of the play quite perfect. Mr. Bosworth had a long and important part and it is doubtful whether there has been any acting better than his so far this year. Mr. Saulnier, as the elderly uncle, had a chance for skillful interpretation and he made good use of his opportunity. We feel sure that a great deal of the success of this first freshman play must have been due to the careful work of Mr. Graves, its direcor.

"A Flower of Yeddo", is the first poetry-drama produced in the dramatic club. Its setting is prettily Japanese, its lines poetical and pleasing, its plot that of the tests to which a Japanese girl submits her poet-lover. Miss Kelley as his poet was really remarkable; her memory was infallible and her acting all that the part required. Miss Wright and Miss Howard were graciously Japanese and Miss Cadmus was an excellent haughty soldier, Miss Eleanor Frost '26, the director, deserves much commendation for undertaking such an unusual play and for planning and executing so effectively the details of setting and costuming "The Wig and Pen" appreciates both her effort and her success. NOONAN '91 NAMED TO HIGH OFFICE

Elected to Supreme Court Bench of Eighth New York District

County Court Judge Thomas H. Noonan '91, was elected to the Supreme Court Bench of the Eighth Judicial District at the elections held on November third. That Judge Noonan would be elected was almost a certainty and the proof that his work as a servant of the state and county has been satisfactory is shown by the fact that he was elected by a majority of more than ninety thousand.

Judge Noonan graduated from Beeman Academy at New Haven, Vt., and and matriculated at Middlebury in 1887 graduating in the class of 1891. Three years later he was admitted to the bar of New York state and started practice in Buffalo, N. Y., which city has been his home since that time. In 1912 he was elected to the City Court and at the conclusion of his term was elected to the County Court where he has served for the past six years. When a vacancy occurred in the Supreme Court the Republican party immediately nominated Judge Noonan for the position, as announced in the CAMPUS a few weeks ago.

While a student here Judge Noonan was prominent in activities and at one time Editor of the Undergraduate, now the CAMPUS. He was also a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. At the present time he is the National President of Middlebury Alumni Association.

SATURDAY'S GAME WILL BREAK TIE

Both U. V. M. and Middlebury Credited With Four Victories

A review of the annual gridiron clashes between Middlebury and the University of Vermont since football relations were renewed in 1913 shows that both have won four games and that three of them have been tie contestants which makes the game on Saturday all the more interesting from every point of view, with the prospects bright for the Blue and White to gain a one game margin in the objective contest.

Until last year Vermont had been triumphant in the games with Middlebury since 1920 and had won one game more than the Blue and White. However the Middlebury team came back and made up for the defeats of the other three years by pinning a 15-0 defeat on the Green and Gold and evening up the series.

The football rivalry between these two institutions came into being in 1894 when they contracted for a three game series. In the first game Vermont won 10-0 at Burlington while Middlebury turned the tables in the second game and reversed the score in her favor. The final game of that series was started at Vergennes but football gave way to pugilism when Vermont was in the lead and the contest never was finished, insofar as a football game is concerned. After this unfortunate affair athletic relations with Vermont were a matter of past history, with the exception of 1897 when a game was played in which Vermont won.

In 1913 through the efforts of President Thomas the Blue and White and Green and Gold were once more brought together on the gridiron and a game has been played each year since then with the exception of 1916.

The summary of these games follows since 1913:

1913—Middlebury 7; Vermont 10.
1914—Middlebury 0; Vermont 0.
1915—Middlebury 6; Vermont 0.
1916—No game.
1917—Middlebury 0; Vermont 0.
1918—Middlebury 0; Vermont 0.
1919—Middlebury 20; Vermont 14.
1920—Middlebury 6; Vermont 0.
1921—Middlebury 7; Vermont 14.
1922—Middlebury 0; Vermont 32.
1923—Middlebury 0; Vermont 13.
1924—Middlebury 15; Vermont 0.
1925—Middlebury ?; Vermont 0.

Women's College To Have Special Scout Leaders' Training Class

Due to Miss Marion Young, the women's college is to have a special Scout Leaders' Training class. Miss Anne Roos, Head of the Educational Department of the National Council of Girl Scouts of America is coming from December 9 to 12 inclusive. At this time she will give a course of lessons, probably two hours in length, which prove very beneficial to those interested in Scouting. At the end of this course each girl will be expected to pass the Tenderfoot Test unless she has previously done so. The price of the course is two dollars. Posters are coming which will give further information.

We are very fortunate in securing the instruction of such an able Scout Executive and it is hoped that many will take advantage of it. This course will fit a girl to become a Scout leader and will give her an excellent foundation for Camp Work. From this instruction she can go to higher fields in Scouting.

Twenty-five couples attende the informal dance held in the gymnasium Saturday night. Professor and Mrs. E. C. Bryant and Professor and Mrs. R. H. White were chaperones. Music was furnished by Gruggel's Serenaders.

Worcester Pastor Is Speaker At Vespers

Rev. F. A. MacDonald Pleads For Just Conduct And a Spirit of Mercy

Rev. Fred A. MacDonald, of Worcester, Mass., in addressing the students at Sunday chapel service, chose for his text Micah 6:8 "What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

"Man has long thought that he could appease God with a burnt offering," said Rev. MacDonald, "but God cannot be appeased with material things. There is nothing to give God but what we have first received from Him.

"Just conduct, a spirit of mercy and a humble heart shall open the door to heaven. God is not seeking our patronage; He is seeking our allegiance. If you would achieve royal manhood or royal womanhood, walk in the narrow pathway.

"The three things required of man are to do justice, to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God. In doing justice man must be true to himself. The time demands strong hands, great hearts, men of honor who will not lie.

Justice is strength, sometimes cold and stern; but mercy is love in action. It tempers justice with warmth. In his sermon on the Mount, Jesus Christ gave the world its loftiest conception of mercy. Mercy is the greatest attribute in heaven.

"These first two requirements have to do with human relations, but the third is concerned with God. The first two are results of the last, for if one walks humbly with God, he loves mercy and does justice. Humility is a mark of true greatness. It is the finest ornament in the crown jewel of Christian religion.

"The following is a quotation from General Pershing's speech to the men of the American expeditionary force: 'Hardship will be before you, but trusting in God will give you comfort; temptation will be before you, but trusting in God will give you strength.' We need humility. It is not a weakness, for some of the greatest characters in history have been humble."

The speaker concluded by summing up his sermon in everyday language, "Be true to yourself, love your fellowmen, seek to serve your God."

Drive For Red Cross Starts Here Today

An intensive drive for the Red Cross Roll Call began this morning and will continue for three days. It is under the auspices of the Sages and Banshees. Every student in college will be solicited and asked to cooperate in order that Middlebury may go on record as having given liberally to this worthy cause. It will be remembered that a few years ago the women's college had a 100 per cent record, each individual member having enrolled in the Red Cross. An attempt is going to be made to equal that record this year. Today, Armistice Day, is the date set all over the country for this drive to begin.

missed at quarterback, also his ability to pass and carry the ball. Olney Hill guard of four years experience, is acting captain. "P. D." Clark, last year's rangy center, has occupied the same berth throughout this season, "Swede" Aronson at left guard sustained a very bad fracture of the left arm in the Norwich game, and will probably be replaced by O'Connell in Saturday's game, though the versatile Winchenbach filled that position against R. P. I. "Wink" started the season in tackle, but was shifted to end when Denning turned out for late practice. Candon then injured his shoulder and "Wink" played a smashing game at right halfback in his stead at Northfield. Here he will remain against the Blue and White, with Candon and Davies as possible alternates. Hill takes the right guard, Denning and Katz at the tackles, and Leary and Shechtman the ends, with Morse again in condition to go in after a long recovery from an injured knee. "Tommy" Thompson is a gritty halfback who has retained his position throughout every game, and Jack Smith is a great defensive fullback who will swing a mean boot against the leather when a punt is necessary. In "Jack" Conway at quarterback rests a large share of Vermont's hopes. His educated toe sent the oval spinning between the goal posts in the Holy Cross game, and again to beat Norwich, and he gained ground consistently when he carried the ball against the Cadets. The line, though light, has offered stone-wall resistance to charging backs, compelling Holy Cross to resort to other tactics and denying a touchdown to Springfield though they were five times within the ten yard line on the first down.

Both Vermont and Middlebury are always more than ordinarily on their toes in this classic of the year, and it is sure to be a scrap from start to finish.

John H. Finley, educator, editor and author, and at the present time editor of the New York Times, is to be the speaker at the annual Forefathers' Day exercises in Middlebury.

HARRIERS TO FACE VERMONT SATURDAY

Close Meet Expected; Blue Has Edge Because of Experience

Preliminary to the football game at Burlington on Saturday, the cross-country teams of Middlebury and Vermont will race over Vermont's new course. A close race is certain, with both teams fighting to score the first win of the day for their respective colleges. This will be the first race of the year for the Green and Gold harriers so very little is known of their strength. Coach Brown's men, defeated in their three meets thus far, feel confident that they will be able to score a victory. They will be weakened because of Whiting's inability to run but will be stronger than against R. P. I. for Arnold will be with them again.

In the last meet against Vermont, held at Burlington two years ago, the Black Panthers were victorious.

Frosh-Montpelier Sem. Game is Cancelled

Montpelier Seminary has cancelled its game which was to have been played with the freshmen this Saturday at Montpelier. This enforced layoff will enable the frosh team to get some much needed rest after their gruelling game last Saturday and, at the same time, will alllow them to focus their efforts on the game with Goddard here on November 20, which will be the last contest of the season.

Y. W. C. A. Meeting

The Y. W. C. A. held its weekly meeting in the Y. W. rooms, Tuesday evening. A short play written by Eleanor Frost, '26 was presented.

The speaker of the evening was Miss Clark, Rural Secretary of the National Y. W. C. A. Her talk centered on the services which can be done by college girls in small communities.

A very pleasing 'cello solo was played by Marjorie Cross, '28.

Strong Attack By Blue Is Too Much For Tufts

Middlebury. Middlebury would then take the ball down the field only to be held by Tufts at critical moments.

In the second period Whittemore received McDonnell's punt on Tufts 40 yard line and ran it back 20 yards before he was stopped. Middlebury then used a series of line plunges that carried the ball well down the field from where Hinman on a deceptive play circled the left end and went over for the first touchdown. Capt. Potter failed to kick the goal.

The second touchdown was scored in the third period after Wiley recovered a Tufts fumble on the Brown and Blue 45 yard line. Rice went through tackle for three yards after which Whittemore made first down on a drive through the center of Tufts' line. Rice again drove through the opponent's line for another first down and placed the ball on the 15 yard line. On the next play Hinman dropped back and made a perfect pass to Whittemore who went over the line for another tally.

Late in the same period Middlebury scored again when Capt. Potter fell on a fumbled ball on Tufts eight yard line. Gruggel gained three yards and then Rice bucked the line for five yards and a touchdown with Capt. Potter kicking the goal.

Williston Hands 32-13 Defeat to Freshmen

spoiled the cubs' aerial attack.

The game started with the kickoff to Willis, who ran it up to the forty yard line, where Middlebury lost the ball on fumbles. Williston made two long gains, but Hawkins recovered the ball and Willis punted. Williston, receiving the ball, went steadily down the field in a series of short gains, and a touchdown was made by Crosby. Willis again received the ball, and the cubs made repeated gains until the quarter closed with the ball on the opponents five yard line.

When the second quarter opened Henry crashed through the line for a gain, and Willis went through for a touchdown. The kick was blocked. Weber kicked off, and Williston gained thirty yards, but was penalized fifteen yards, and Middlebury received the ball. Henry took the ball through for a gain and was injured. After an exchange of punts, a fumble by Middlebury allowed Lockwood to score. The half closed with a score of Williston 13, Middlebury 6.

The second half opened with a kick by Williston to Dujardin. Willis plunged through the line for a gain, Williston receiving the ball on an intercepted pass. Gruggel recovered a fumble, but the cubs' forward pass was again intercepted. Punts were exchanged, and after a series of plays, Crosby of Williston made a long run, the quarter ending with Coach Riegelman's team holding at the goal.

The last quarter started with a score by Williston. The prep school team kicked off and the ball was lost by an intercepted pass. Williston was penalized twenty-five yards and then made a wonderful run of seventy yards for a goal. Willis again received the ball on the kickoff, and passed to Gruggel and then to Hellauer. The opponents received the ball by an incomplete pass and made a long run. Williston scored when its left end plunged through the line.

During the last minute of play, Ransom received the ball and ran up to the forty yard line. A beautiful twenty-five yard pass was made to Hawkins, followed by another to Smith, who scored. The drop kick was blocked, but a Williston man was offside, giving the point to Middlebury.

By Pete Prophet, '26

My future is assured. When the results of Saturday's football games had come in, the world began to bow in acquiescence to the greatest seer of the ages, Pete Prophet '26. With the exception of one, every team I picked to win came through. The exception was Columbia who played a tie game. Cornell's scoring power I had analyzed to a point. On Yale, and Brown I was one point off. Maine I picked to beat Bowdoin 14 to 7 but she did it 28 to 14.

Although I am being eagerly sought by all the metropolitan newspapers, I must repeat that my predictions are exclusively for the CAMPUS. I also would like to request that the public refrain from honoring me. It isn't my fault. I just can't help being good, so there!

On tap for Saturday, we have:

Yale 16; Princeton 10.
Bowdoin 7; Tufts 0.
Brown 16; Harvard 7.
Dartmouth 13; Chicago 7.
Army 16; Columbia 14.
Syracuse 10; Colgate 9.

Klevenow's Team Ready To Defend State Title

As for the Vermont team, although beaten 20-7 by R. P. I. on Saturday they emerged from the game in better physical condition than did the Blue and White but on the other hand several of their best men, including Tarpey, Buttles and Arononson are reported to be out of the game for the remainder of the season.

In general Middlebury has made a better showing throughout the season than has Vermont and has met with much stiffer opposition than has the up-state team, all of which is in the favor of the Blue and White. Nevertheless Middlebury does not underestimate the Green and Gold strength. It is certain that they will uncork everything they have in the line of football tactics against the Black Panther on Saturday but Middlebury hopes to stop everything they uncover and keep their grasp on the title that they won from Vermont last year.
